THE WORLD ENERGY COUNCIL

supports a truly global network of more than 3,000 energy leaders, experts and organisations in 100 countries, across all forms of energy, power and utilities. We build partnerships, and create the space and resources, to accelerate the transition to a more sustainable energy future, for the greatest benefit of all.

Through our broad and diverse membership – and our unique convening power – we enable our members to improve radically their energy transition strategies, capabilities and performance. We offer our insight, network and platform capabilities to incubate energy transition activities, and as a community, we continually develop the strategic dialogue that shapes our energy future.
